SCHOOL REPORT .- Below are given a few items of the "Term Report" of Pilot Knob Public School, for the long term of ten months closing June 15th:

The Primary Grade, taught by Mrs. F. C Miller, enrolled during the entire term, 160 pupils. The monthly enrollment did not vary far from 80, averaging 65.

The Intermediate Grade, taught by Miss S. M. Schneider, enrolled during the term, 74; the monthly enrollment was near 50, giving an average of about 40.

The Advanced, by F. C. Miller, enrolled 60; monthly enrollment about 40, giving a term average of 36.

Total enrollment, 294; highest enrollment of any one month, 195. Term average, 139. The above figures show that the grades have each been full all the time, with a monthly of not less than 80 per cent. on en-

Bro. Hotson's barber folded his tent and silently stole away last Saturday night-between two days-without sound of trumpet or beat of drum. 'He leaves a select circle of one week's duration, at Pilot Knob, bemourners behind to grieve o'er his untimely flitting. Bro. Hotson is out numerous shekels, for rent and borrowed money; Dr. Patton, an undefrayed fragment of the price of a suit of clothes; Jack Albert, a bedstead; the Knob tonsorial artist, two dollars' worth other persons and articles too numerous to mention. Notice to Teachers.

Notice is thereby given to the teachers of Iron county, that Prof. R. C. Norton, President of the Southeast Missouri Normal School, will conduct a "Normal Institute" ginning Monday, July 16th.

Prof. Norton is one of Missouri's most able educators, and will illustrate by the Wing form, the most approved methods of teaching now in use. No teacher in the county can afford to allow this opportunity of a recently purchased barber chair; and to go unimproved. No charges will be made for tuition. It is hoped that every teacher in the county, and friends of education, will be present on the first day and remain during the session.

The Effects of Literature.

Ed. Register-The special branch of the them to their children, and many ministers of the Gospel tirade against their introduction. That the yellow-back dime novels are jue7-1y part of parents is used in selecting standard works, you will help form a correct taste. The youthful mind already trained as to what is right, will retain the wheat and reject the chaff; the taste once formed, no desire will be had for unprofitable and trashy works. The seeds of good literature once sown, the harvest will be that of wisdom, advancement, morality and happiness. See the rapid strides of civilization since the invention of printing; before this era books were scarce, and the dark ages were rendered immortal by its crimes, barbarity, inhumanity and religious fanaticism; now we have the best works within reach of rich and poor-ignorance and superstition have made way for science and enlightenment; barbarous warfare and unhappiness, for peace and prosperity. It has been estimated that where we have one rich man there are 1,000 poor. Ignorance is the chief cause of poverty. Instead of learning by our practical trials, reading makes us profit by the experience of others. The advanced civilization of Greece when Athens was in her glory can be traced to the wisdom of their poets; for the stage then diffused the knowledge of Aeschylus and his followers. It is one of the laws of nature that we must be occupied in doing something. The mind unoccupied with instructive and interesting novels will reach for other pleasures. Where temptations for evil are greater, saloons, cards and vicious company will finally lead boys into dissipation; and the girls, to relieve themselves of ennui, will indulge to excess in the dissipations of society, which often ends in ruinous flirtations and shattered health. But in reading we are thrown into imaginary society, where errors, faults and temptations, which we are generally slow to acknowledge cule. In reading we gain that experience, knowledge and pleasure which can in no other way be derived except by travel.
